SUSTAINING MEMBERSHIP PROGRAM

Management Forum Series began as a cooperative effort between Portland-area companies looking for cost-effective ways to enhance their internal development programs with high-quality content from national thought leaders. By combining their resources with Executive Forum, these founding companies created a powerful vehicle for delivering high-value development opportunities.

Our Sustaining Membership program continues the MFS tradition of low-cost, high-value development solutions designed to serve as a platform for your internal development initiatives. Sustaining Memberships give organizations a foundation they can use to identify and reinforce development goals, coordinate large-scale participation, and guide a coordinated in-house program—all at a single fixed cost.

How does it work? Send a team, or a department, as many people as you choose* up to the limit of the membership capacity. Forum attendees share the experience and bring what they've learned back to the organization. The Forum Series then becomes a framework for learning and development that benefits both the attendees and your entire organization via mentoring, de-briefing sessions, and the diffusion of ideas.

Sustaining Memberships create a broader learning-base and significantly increase the impact of your development program—without increasing the overall cost.
